Grass Roots

In spite of wars and threats of wars, dictators and fates. threats of dictators, taxes and unemployment, spring is nearly here. It will do you good to get out in the open and see how insignificant are the vanities of men and politicians who are powerless to check the turn of the seasons, create the food that the world must eat, control the coming of the new leaves, the grass, the calves, the lambs and the pigs. How much more important is the work of a good farmer than all the bombast of the mightiest dictators or the mouthings of the noisiest politicians.

529 Train Loads

How much money is $45,000,000,000—the amount of the national debt by 1940, as expected? Nobody knows.

So A. A. Busby, local figure bug, set his head and hand to work to give us some idea of what $45,000,000,000 is-just forty-five billion silver dollars. (Older citizens may remember what one looks like.)

A silver dollar, Mr. Busby says, is 11/2 inches in diameter. The circumference of the earth at the equator is 25,000 miles....There are 63,360 inches in a mile or 1,584,000,000 in the earth's circumference. Dividing, the mathematician finds that 45 billion dollars laid edge to edge would circle the earth at the equator 42.5 times!

Then he goes on to give us another slant on the vastness of that national debt by considering the weight of 45 billion dollars:

It takes 17 silver dollars to weigh a pound, he says. You'll find, if you take the time to figure a little, that 45 billion dollars (if there were that many) would weigh 2,647,058,823 pounds, or 1,323,529 tons, or 529 train loads of 2500 tons each or one train reaching across Kansas business future. from north to south!

Can you get that into your mind? If our great-greatgrandchildren get it paid off, it will be the surprise of our life!-Bronson, Kansas, Pilot.

Americanism Defined

Mr. Webster aptly defines the word. There can be only one kind of Americanism. Deep-rooted love of the United States and its "traditions, interests, or ideals."

Sitting on the Sit-Down

It was only a few years ago that Americans became acquainted with the sit-down strike as a weapon of labor leaders. An innovation of the C. I. O., the sit-down leaped into the headlines almost overnight.

With equal swiftness, violence replaced the council table as a means of labor dispute settlement; public respect for organized labor turned to public indignation; and a man's security in his job became as dependent on the whims of a labor czar as on all the economic

That the sit-down has remained on the American industrial scene as long as it has is largely attributable to the labor policy adopted by the Federal government in its National Labor Relations Act. The act, rather than Bristol. diminishing labor strife and the sit-down, as was intended, only encouraged strife. At least that is the only conclusion that can be drawn from the results.

Now the Supreme Court has ruled the sit-down illegal. Specifically, the highest court rules that the National Labor Relations Board was "out of bounds" in ordering employers to re-hire, with back pay, workers who had been discharged for participating in sit-down strike violence and property seizure.

The court was specific, also, in upholding the right of an employee to strike. But the right to strike, said Chief Justice Hughes in reading the court's opinion, does not license the employee "to commit acts of violence and to seize the employer's plant."

That is just what the public has been thinking since the sit-down started.

Opinion

All sound financial observers are of the opinion that sound prosperity will not return until heavy industry expands, and such expansion will not take place so long as present federal policies are in effect. Pump-priming may induce an occasional feverish wave of buying automobiles, clothing and other perishable goods, followed by economic chills. But if the important heavy industries are to expand we must have less government competition and interference and more confidence in the

REDUCE TIME AND LABOR ON SILAGE

Will Enable Farmer to Put Up Higher Quality.

Modern equipment and improved methods greatly reduce the burden save time and enable the farmer to put up a higher quality silage.

Any green crop that is harvested for grass silage should go into the silo just as soon after cutting as possible. In good having weather, not over two hours should elapse between mowing and ensiling. During cloudy or rainy weather somewhat longer time may be permissi-ble. If the crop becomes partly dry in the field, water should be added at the silo in order to replace the lost moisture and insure a high quality silage.

In mowing the crop it is a good plan not to keep more than onehalf day ahead of the needed supply. A windrower which may be attached to either a horse-drawn or works especially well on level fields, or fields that are not too rolling.

The use of modern cylinder rake bar loaders saves a great deal of labor. When selecting a loader it is well to purchase one specifically designed for green hay. They will handle dry hay as well as green

Many experienced operators use square-shaped racks or dump truck bodies, and allow the hay to fall as it will from the loader, without having anyone on the load. When the green hay is hauled to the silo con-siderable time can be saved by dumping the load on the ground. Providing the silo filler is set in a trench or set with its wheels in the ground up to the axles, the labor of feeding the machine is greatly reduced. Standing on the ground and with the cutter lowered, two men can pitch a ton of green hay into a silo filler in 10 minutes or

Almost any cutter that is in good condition may be used in ensiling green crops. Modern machines with feed rolls designed for handling hay crops are easier to feed than standard ensilage cutters. The silo filler should be set for a cut of one-fourth to one-half an inch. Longer cuttings do not pack satisfactorily and may result in some spoilage.'

will also be on exhibit. The animals are chosen by a special committee from each Breed Association, and will come from all parts of the United States and Can-ada as representatives of the best that the breed can produce. The Aryshire cow shown above is one of the animals chosen.

In this exhibit not only the production of milk will be demonstrated, but the handling, bottling and sale of it will go forward under the eyes of the public. About onethird of the milk produced by the cows of this country is used as fluid milk. The rest is sold as butter, cheese, ice-cream, casein for paint, billiard balls, paper sizing. milk sugar for medicines, and in literally hundreds of other forms. The Bank of England

The Bank of England is not a government institution, but a private banking house, the largest in the world, with the British government as its chief customer. It is con-trolled by a governor, deputy governor and 24 directors. The Bank of England is a joint-stock bank, the first of its kind in Great Britain. It was organized with a capital of 1,200,000 pounds, subscribed by many stockholders, and opened for business January 1, 1695, during the reign of William III.

Pronunciation of 'Cobh' Cobh, the port of Cork, Ireland, and an increasingly popular debarkation point for visitors to the British isles, probably is the most mispronounced word in shipping circles. It is called Cobb, Kobe, but rarely Cove, which is correct. It is the same city as Queenstown, as it formerly was known.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Substance" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 12.

The Golden Text was, "Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase" (Proverbs 3:9).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And one of the company said unto him, Master, speak to my brother, that he divide the inheritance with me. And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth . . For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also" (Luke 12:13, 15, 34). The Lesson-Sermon also in cluded the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Hold thought steadfastly to the enduring, the good, and the true, and you will bring these into your experience proportionably to their occupancy of your thoughts" (p. 261).

Youth Saves Man From Auto; Heir to Two Million.

NEW YORK.—Picking his way through the thick traffic of Broadway near Forty-third street four years ago, Sidney Swart, then 18 years old and a clerk in an emergency relief bureau, saw an automobile make a quick turn and bear down on an elderly man with a cane. In two seconds the agile Swart reached the unwitting pedestrian and shoved him from the car's Extremely grateful, the older man asked Swart's name and address. He said he desired to express his appreciation in some manner. Two days later Swart received a letter asking him to call at the Waldorf-Astoria. It appeared that the name of the elderly man was Carl Anderson.

Swart lived in two furnished rooms with his sister, Jean, in Brooklyn. He told Anderson about Jean and the latter said he would like to meet her. Anderson also lived with his sister, Miss Gertrude Anderson, 62 years old. Their home was in Sweden. He was a cheese manufacturer, here on business.

Anderson took an immediate fancy to Jean and eventually presented her with a $20,000 check to travel in Ecrope.

Some time later, after inducing Swart to change his name to Stewart, he took him to Sweden where Swart, now Stewart, remained two years, receiving a musical education, a small fishing yacht, and an allowance of $1,000 a month, he Anderson died in August, 1936, leaving his protege a $50,000 legacy, and Stewart returned to this country. Then on last October 4 Miss Anderson died and today he received notice that her estate, amounting to approximately $2,000,-000, had been left to him.

Now 22 years old, he plans to engage in radio work and invest some of the fortune in motion picture and night club ventures.

Hunters Quit When Bear

Turns Tables on Them KELSO, WASH. — Clyde Mellitt and Joseph St. Onge returned from a hunting trip to report a fantastic escape from death at the claws of a large black bear.

St. Onge sighted the bear first, and his shot knocked the animal off a log. The hunter laid aside his rifle and climbed over the log. A wounded and enraged beast met him. The hunter turned and fled.

He then called Mellitt and, returning to the place where St. Onge had laid aside his rifle, the two hunters separated in an attempt to pick up the bear's trail.

Mellitt had progressed only a short distance when the bear charged him. A frantic chase ensued, with Mellitt dashing madly around a stump and the wounded bear behind him.

Mellitt's shouts attracted St. Cope, but was afraid to risk a shot for fear of hitting his comrade. Finally, however, he fired a shot into the air and frightened the bear

The hunters decided they had been hunting enough for one day, and made no further attempt to follow the wounded animal.

Balance and Appetite Appeal in This Attractive Lenten Menu

Here's The Kind of Lenten Dish Your Family Will Rave About — Baked Salmon With Sour Cream and Canned Peas, Served on Buttered Toast or Corn Bread

With Lent comes the problem of preparing attractive daily meals that have zest and variety, and yet do not sacrifice that all-important matter of balance in their food values, for upon this depends the health of the entire family.

It's quite a task for a busy housewife.

It's quite a task for a busy housewife, she must always remember that, husband coming home from the office, and the children tired after a day at school, are far more enticed by an appetizing array of attractive foods than by a careful nutritive balance. Carefully she must combine these two elements. she must combine these two elements. New combinations and arrangements of foods, new ideas and diffierent forms of presenting it are doubly welcome at

During Lent, the problem becomes tion in any of the several forms that even more difficult; for then the homefollow. maker is faced with a more limited choice of foods. There's one bright choice of foods. There's one bright light in the picture, though; there are a few foods graciously endowed by Nature. One of these is canned peas; they're rich in muscle-building proteins and energy-making sugars and plenty of those too often overlooked, yet necessary, vitamins. And by no means least important, they're fresh and zestylooking—just the thing to add that necessary sparkle to a meal.

In canned peas you have a vegetable that offers garden freshness and flavor all the year at a tempting economy.

Break the salmon into large pieces or slice it. Remove the bones and excess skin. Place in baking dish and add the sour cream. Cover the dish and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Serve on toast or corn bread—garnish with canned peas buttered or warmed in sour cream sauce.

1. Among brethren (v. 8). Knowone another and do nothing but that which would promote Christian fellowship. But human nature pre-vails even in the Church, and sometimes displays its worst side there. Hence we need to consider this instruction of Peter that we cultivate unity, sympathy, and love among the brethren. Observe that this is not just a pious platitude which we may take or leave. It states our obligation to one another as Christians. Whatever others may do or say, let us be clear that we have obeyed this word of God.

2. With unbelievers (vv. 9-11). God has called us to live peaceably with all men. We will not cure evil by returning for it more evil. deed, we are not to retaliate in but to seek peace.

3. For our own good (v. 12). What blessed assurance we find here for the believer. The eyes of the Lord are upon both the good and the in the world. He knows. Conder also the promise of "blessing" in verse 9, of seeing "good days" in verse 10, the assurance of peace in verse 11. It is not only honoring to God, but good for us to live as Christians.

Let us be clear that being a Christian in no way exempts us from the common experiences of humanity, nor does it assure us that we will not have to bear persecution and suffering. But (and here is a point of greatest importance), we are able to meet such difficulties in the name of Christ without fear or discouragement, for God is with

1. Not afraid (vv. 13, 14). The martyr spirit has not died out in the earth, and there are those in our day who stand unafraid before dictators and rulers who would destroy them because of their loyalty to Christ. "Be not afraid."

2. Not discouraged (vv. 15-17). The one who knows God's Word (and every Christian ought to know it) can give answer (v. 15) concerning his faith. Note that if we are punished for our own wrongdoing we may well be depressed, but if we meet persecution with a clear conscience (v. 16) we need feel no

The "Dairy World of Tomorrow" is to be one of the striking exhibits at the 1939 Fair. Here 120 dairy cows. each a queen on the basis of her type and performance, will be on exhibit These cows will be selected by the Breed Associations representing the following breeds, Jerseys, Guernseys. Holstein - Friesians, Brown - Swiss, and Ayrshires. These cows will be milked three times daily on a rotolacfor equipped with magnetic milkersgiving the public a chance to observe the most modern methods in handling mi'k. In addition to the cows mentioned, calves and a bull of each breed will be on display.

The "Dairy World of Tomorrow" is being staged by the five breed associations mentioned above in cooperation with The Borden Company for the purpose of showing the place of the pure-bred cow in the economics of dairying.

LAKE CO. HOME

Mrs. Raether Is Chosen to Head Organization for Coming Year

Lake county was the only county in the United States to organize a Home Bureau in the depression, according to Mrs. Helen Butner, home economics extension representative from the state university, speaking Friday before 125 at the seventh annual meeting of the county Home Bureau in Wauconda.

There are now 62 Home Bureaus operating in 68 counties in the state, with a total membership of 20,000.

Elected to office for the next year were Mrs. O. L. Raether, presdent; Mrs. Walter Crook, Volo, vice president; Mrs. Harry Powis, Gurnee, secretary; Mrs. Earl Kane, Diamond Lake, treasurer; directors, Mrs. E. E. Elsbury, Gurnee, Mrs. J. L. Magnuson, Diamond Lake, Mrs. W. K. Shipman, Diamond Lake, Mrs. Harold Druce, Grayslake, Mrs. William Leing, Lake Villa, and Mrs. I. J. Cermak, Zion.

As the result of indifference, Trevor Man Suffers at 2:00 o'clock P. M., 29th day, March, the disease is allowed to progress to the serious stage. It is possible to have tuberculosis for as long as two and one half years without any physical symptoms whatever, the association points out.

A case of early tuberculosis treated promptly by rest, good food and fresh air has an excellent chance of getting well, but once the disease becomes entrenched it is difficult to cure it. For that reason the Lake County Tuberculosis Association is urging tuberculin testing, with X-Ray examination for positive reactors, to the students of high schools in Lake county. The Association will be glad to give a full explanation of this program to high schools desiring tuberculin testing for their pupils.

The Association is able to make his service available through the support of the citizens of Lake county to the annual Christmas Seal Sale and will be able to continue this program just as long as this support is given.

The regular semi-weekly chest clinic will be held Wednesday and Friday mornings, March 15 and 17, from 8:30 to 11 a. m. at St. Therese hospital, Waukegan. Duping the Ducks

Each season an eider duck will produce about half a pound of eider down, but it must be tricked into doing so, says Samuel J. Beckett in "A Wayfarer in Norway." Artificial nests are placed in the rocks in the haunts of the bird, and there the ducks lay their eggs. As the eggs are systematically taken away, the bird continues to sit for long periods, all the time plucking the valuable down from her breast for the nest. Lokta is one of the centers for the eider down industry.
